

AURA - THE UK'S FASTEST SECURITY RESPONSE SERVICE

QVIS have partnered with AURA, an innovative technology platform, to deliver the UK's fastest security response service. AURA is fully integrated into QVIS software so that when a dispatch is required, a ringing algorithm automatically locates and dispatches the nearest available security responder on the network, reducing response times and the long delays typically associated with a phone-based service.

AURA can be used in combination with a physical keyholding solution, or as a replacement where keyless access is available. AURA is a cost effective solution, and the faster response times can reduce or deter the impact of crime on your customers' businesses.

AURA TECH SECURITY RESPONSE

AVERAGE RESPONSE TIME 29 MINS

The traditional process relies on phone-based communications which can take anywhere between 1-20 minutes before a responder even starts their journey. The platform is integrated into our monitoring software so that dispatches can be created in less than 30 seconds. This saves significant time, and means that the nearest responder can be on their way in less than 30 seconds.

WHY YOU NEED SECURITY RESPONSE?

With the police increasingly unable to attend a growing number of incidents, access to a private security network is becoming an important element in reducing the impact of crime, and combined with the very best alarm, CCTV Systems and Monitoring, can help to keep your customers and their properties safe.

MAINTAINING FAST RESPONSE AND QUALITY

- AURA use detailed site information and What3Words references to assist responders
- Checklists are provided for responders to follow
- An AURA operator speaks with every responder after each callout
- AURA analyse huge volumes of data to assess everything, creating continuous improvement
